October 29, 2024

Team Excels with Most No. 1 Ranked Analysts for the Second Consecutive Year

NEW YORK--(BUSINESS WIRE)--Oct. 29, 2024-- Evercore ISI was ranked No. 1 among all firms for top-ranked analysts on a weighted basis in Extel's (previously Institutional Investor) All-America Equity Research survey for the third consecutive year. This overall rank is determined by applying the greatest weight to the highest-ranked individuals in each category.

Evercore ISI analysts were recognized as Top 3 or Runner Up in 47 categories, and they maintained the largest number of No. 1 position rankings at 17, up from 15 in 2023. Evercore ISI Founder and Chairman Ed Hyman once again topped the polls and received the No. 1 rank in Economics for the 44th year. Elizabeth Anderson (Health Care Technology & Distribution), Mark Mahaney (Internet Small & Midcap), and Oscar Sloterbeck (Thematic Research) ranked as the No. 1 analyst in their respective sectors for the first time ever on the ISI platform. Additionally, three analysts who joined Evercore ISI in the last year were recognized: Mark Lipacis (Semiconductors & Semiconductor Capital Equipment), Michael Binetti (Retailing Department Stores & Specialty Softlines), and Sarah Bianchi (Washington Research).

The 2024 All-America Research Team named by Extel reflects the opinions of more than 4,300 investment professionals from over 1,600 asset management firms and institutions, according to the magazine.

"Congratulations to every member of our team," Mr. Hyman said. "Once again, I am so happy to see them get this well-deserved recognition for their great work. As always, our clients are at the forefront of everything we do, and we are grateful for their trust and support."

Mike Paliotta, CEO of Evercore ISI, said, "Evercore's core values are anchored to the highest standards of quality and to a client-centric focus on trusted and innovative advice. These results solidify our position as the No. 1 provider of research and reflect the strength of the Evercore brand. I am extremely proud of the entire equities team—research, sales and trading—for this accomplishment. We thank our clients for their continued partnership."

"In the fiercely competitive landscape of our industry, we are honored to be recognized by our clients," said Evercore ISI Director of Research Marc Harris.
