Thomas Sabatier joins Evercore as a Vice President in the Firm's Private Capital Advisory Group

LONDON, October 20, 2021 – Evercore is pleased to announce that Thomas Sabatier has joined the Firm's Private Capital Advisory group ("PCA") as a Vice President. Mr. Sabatier will be based in the London office and will focus on advising limited partners on secondary market transactions and providing execution services.

Mr Sabatier has over seven years of experience in the secondaries market across Europe, most recently as a Principal in Triago's London office. Mr Sabatier will be joining his former Triago colleagues David Markson, James Fish, Michael Bynarowicz and Eli Auerbach who recently joined the Evercore PCA team in New York.

Lea Lazaric Calvert, Head of PCA Europe, commented, "We are delighted to welcome Tom to our team to further strengthen our market leading secondary advisory business. Tom and his colleagues from Triago will focus predominantly on advising LPs on sale processes, which we continue to see as a core part of our business. While we recognise that we have seen tremendous growth in our market advising on GP-led solutions, we remain focused on offering a market leading service to our LP clients."

Mr Sabatier commented, "I am delighted to join Evercore's fast-growing PCA team, in an effort to provide a best-in-class toolbox of liquidity solutions for all private market stakeholders. Buyer appetite for LP-driven transactions is at an all-time high and volumes are on the rise, creating a highly favourable niche for LP stakes, in which Evercore's capabilities are second to none."

Mr Sabatier holds a Master of Science in Management from Essec Business School Paris.
